When non-Jews talk about this time of year, they generally discuss returning to school, harvesting from the gardens, and enjoying the last burst of summer activities. When Jews talk about this time of year, we are referring to the High Holidays. Many nights for the past month I have watched the moon as it progressed from just a sliver of silver to a beautiful, round orb, now shrinking once again. As the moon changes in the sky, we draw closer to our New Year, a time of reflection and introspection, but also of community and family.

This year, we are launching into the new year with some new looks. Our website has been recently updated. Please be sure to visit www.bethelaugusta.org to find all the latest happenings — we hope the new and improved calendar section and layout will make it easier for you to find events. Stay tuned for a brand-new look to our weekly email as well. Additionally, we will have a new set up for our Erev Rosh Hashanah services. We’ll be facing the eastern wall, just as we will when we complete the renovations on the building.

At this time of year we read the verse from Lamentations, Hashiveinu Adonai elicha v’nashuva. Chadeish yameinu k’kedem. Return us to you, O God, and we shall return. Renew our days (or make our days new) as they were in the past. The second half of this verse is interesting. Make our days new implies that we are ready for something completely different. But we ask not for a total revolution, but that it will all be as it used to be.

I think that this seeming contradiction implies that we travel in a spiral rather than a circle. While we might want to return to exactly where we have been, it is not possible. We are always moving and changing. However, in the midst of the newness—a new website, new seating, new tunes, and new people, we also find that which is like it was before—a warm community, thought provoking conversations, meaningful rituals, and ancient prayers. As we journey into this year of 5779 together may we all be blessed with that which is new and hold onto the values and community that help to give our lives meaning.

Isaac’s Army: A Story of Courage and Survival in Nazi-Occupied Poland,
by Matthew Brzezinski

Starting as early as 1939, disparate Jewish underground movements coalesced around the shared goal of liberating Poland from Nazi occupation. For the next six years, separately and in concert, they waged a heroic war of resistance against Hitler’s war machine that culminated in the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising. In Isaac’s Army, Matthew Brzezinski delivers the first-ever comprehensive narrative account of that struggle, following a group of dedicated young Jews—some barely out of their teens—whose individual acts of defiance helped rewrite the ending of World War II.
Your Rabbi in Action!

Rabbi Asch had a busy summer! Clockwise from top left: an interfaith service for the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Wall; being interviewed for the First Amendment Museum; preparing for the exhibit at the Maine State Museum; taking a High Holiday writing retreat in the Berkshires; marching with CANMP in the Old Hallowell Day parade; visiting TBE campers at Eisner Camp; and talking with Shenna Bellows, the new director of the Holocaust and Human Rights Center.
The time has come to renovate the Temple

By Jerry Bley

It has been seven years since Temple Beth El embarked upon its building project to meet the space needs of our community. The project began with the purchase of the neighboring Powell property (now the lower parking lot), a necessary first step to give us space to grow.

We originally had planned to add an addition to the Temple, but that idea was shelved when the house on the other side of the Temple came on the market. We determined that TBE could address its primary space needs – classrooms, offices and storage – in a more cost-effective manner by acquiring and renovating what would become the Nancy and Charlie Shuman Center for Jewish Learning. Dedicated in the fall of 2014, the Center has proven to be an invaluable asset for TBE’s Hebrew School and administrative operations.

After giving ourselves a year to catch our breath, we initiated plans for Phase II of the building project – renovating the Temple. The impetus for renovation is the following three pressing needs:

• Major deferred maintenance: The Temple’s roof, siding, and furnace are well beyond their expected life span and could fail at any moment;
• Accessibility: The building, including our bimah, our bathrooms and our entrance, is not fully accessible to those with disabilities; and
• Energy Efficiency: The building is not insulated, even to minimal standards, and has an antiquated heating system.

In working creatively with our pro bono architect, Peter Bethanis, we discovered that addressing the above needs also provided an opportunity to improve the functionality of the Temple. What began as a spiritually based proposition to reorient the synagogue to the East, as is Jewish tradition, evolved into a design endeavor with multiple benefits including:

• A more intimate gathering place for services with a semi-circular seating arrangement;
• The ability to create a function space separate from the synagogue which will greatly improve the transition between services and food;
• A more welcoming entranceway away from the street and a more spacious entrance area.

We are now in the process of finalizing all of the design plans and gathering cost estimates for the construction. This fall, we will initiate a fundraising campaign for the project with the hope of raising the necessary funds in time to initiate construction in June 2019 after the last of the spring b’nai mitzvah, with the goal of having it completed in time for Rosh Hashanah.

You will be hearing more about our plans and our funding needs in the coming weeks. With everyone’s support, we can renew our community’s home so that it can better serve our needs for many years to come.

Join Us for the High Holidays

As the dog days of summer wind down (hopefully), our thoughts turn to the upcoming High Holidays, which fall early this year on the Roman calendar. On behalf of the Board of Directors, I’d like to extend an invitation to all members, the Central Maine community, and visitors to the area to attend our all of our holiday services. As a preview to the new seating configuration that will be part of the Temple’s building renovation project, we will have our seats arranged in an amphitheater style facing east for the Erev Rosh Hashanah service. Our seating will be like normal for the rest of our services. As always, the Temple will not require tickets or membership to attend any of our High Holiday Services. Of course, donations or new memberships are always welcome.

I look forward to seeing you at the Temple,

Chuck Cohen, TBE President

High Holiday Parking

Parking in the lot closest to the Temple is reserved for congregants who have challenges with mobility. Everyone else may park in the second lot or on the east side of Sewall Street (closest to the river). Please be considerate of our neighbors and do not park on Woodlawn Street.

Food Contributions

For the Lipman Kiddush Lunch on Monday, Sept. 10, the Lipman family again will supply the majority of the food. We ask you to contribute by bringing fruit or a dessert to share. For the Break Fast on Wednesday, September 19, Yom Kippur, contributions of fruit, salads, kugels, or desserts would be welcome. Please bring something to share for these community meals.

Preparing for the High Holidays

Wednesday, Sept. 5th, 6-7:30 pm

Please join us to prepare for the Days of Awe. We'll start with a brief service and then hear from Pastor Chrissy Cataldo of Winthrop Congregational Church and Rabbi Asch, who will explore the concepts of sin and forgiveness from both Christian and Jewish perspectives. There will then be time for Q & A and discussion. After that, we'll take 10 minutes for people to write their own confessions that we will use in our Yom Kippur service, accompanied by harpist Deborah Sandler. Please bring a snack to share at a brief social time after.

Why are the Chinese so interested in the Jews?
Find out on Friday, Oct. 5th @ 7:00pm

TBE will host a special Shabbat service with a guest lecture from Professor Xu Xin, the Diane and Guilford Glazer Chair Professor of Jewish and Israel Studies and Dean of the Institute of Jewish/Israel Studies, Nanjing University. This lecture will present an analysis of Chinese knowledge about and attitudes toward the Jewish people in the 20th century. Most Chinese are fascinated by the Jews and how they survived, were revived, and have achieved so much in modern times even though they have been persecuted throughout the ages. The image of the Jews in the Chinese mind serves as an “other,” which remains a mirror and model for the Chinese to judge or construct themselves as they consider paths of modernization that maintain tradition.

Make Time for the Fall Shabbaton at Colby College
Fri.-Sat., Oct. 26th-27th

The Fall Shabbaton at Colby College with Joey Weisenberg, Creative Director of Hadar’s Rising Song Institute. “Having come to cherish the imperfectly beautiful music of normal people singing together, Joey works to empower communities around the world to unlock their musical and spiritual potential, and to make music a lasting and joy-filled force in shul and in Jewish life.” Also featuring Tizmoret, the nationally acclaimed Jewish a cappella group from Queens College, to perform Saturday night.
Hebrew School

We’re SOOOOOOO excited!

Hebrew School starts at 9:30am on Sept. 16th

Potluck lunch begins at 11:45am — please bring a dish to share!

We are thrilled to welcome a new b’nai mitzvah class this year. In addition to our parent/child b’nai mitzvah classes Rabbi Asch will be teaching about Jewish texts and history, Emily Bley will be teaching about becoming a Jewish adult, and Rich Goldman will be taking a deep dive into one aspect of our tradition. We encourage our students to attend services at the Temple and to share in each other's b'nai mitzvah ceremonies.

Hebrew Through Movement

TBE will be introducing a new way of learning Hebrew for our middle and upper classes, Hebrew Through Movement. These 15-minute lessons will be taught by Rabbi Asch and will be focused on the Total Physical Response way of learning language. This focuses on hearing and following basic commands (stand, sit, turn, point, etc.). It does not focus on speaking or reading. The idea is that through building up a vocabulary, the transition to reading is much easier. Students will have sight words that they know and will learn to identify words in Hebrew. During the rest of Hebrew time they will focus on reading and prayer fluency. We are excited to introduce this new way of learning Hebrew.

Traveling Back in Time

Amy’s class will be traveling back in time to learn about the history of the Jewish people. In the fall we will journey through the land of Canaan and learn about the nomadic tribes of the Israelites, King Saul, and the building of the first temple. We will discuss the foundations of the Jewish religion and how they still affect us today as modern Jews. All of this, and more, will be learned through games, discussion, role-playing, and group projects in class.

Learning Values from Stories

Bria’s class will study stories from the Torah, beginning with B’reishit (Genesis). What values can we learn from the stories of our Jewish ancestors? From Abraham and Sarah we learn the importance of welcoming guests (hachnasat orchim); from Rebecca, kindness; and from Jacob and Esau, reconciliation. Our class will also learn Jewish blessings and Hebrew vocabulary through fun games and movement activities!
